

Born and raised in Denver, Colorado, James F. Meschia is the son of a perinatal physiologist and a high school biology teacher. He served as Chair of Neurology at Mayo Clinic in Jacksonville, Florida from 2012 to 2021. His clinical and translational research areas of focus include running a multinational trial of carotid disease, a US multicenter biomarker study of post-stroke cognitive impairment, and a Mayo biomarker study of post-COVID neurological outcomes.