

Dr. Janis is a Program Director in the Division for Clinical Research for the National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke (NINDS). He oversees the clinical stroke program and is the scientific director of the NINDS Stroke Trials Network, StrokeNet. Prior to joining NINDS, Dr. Janis received his training in Clinical Neuroscience from the School of Medicine at the Georgetown University Medical Center and the Center of Molecular and Behavioral Neuroscience at Rutgers University.